

RED FRIDAY

It was a late Friday night and as I was driving home from a party, I crashed in a ditch on the side of the road.

When they found me, they rushed me to the hospital.

I was so worried about you. I'll be okay...

When I woke up my dad was beside me.

After a few days in hospital, I was released home.

I wasn't allowed to watch TV but my boredom got the best of me.

They kept me in a hospital for a couple of days.

My pal Lizzie often visited me and told me about what happened, but my memory never returned.

Later I went to bed. I couldn't sleep at night because I could see a black figure beside me.

It kept mumbling something and the words got clearer each night.

I decided to go and check out the barn.

I turned the news on and I was shocked.

Tessa Cruise, a girl from my school was missing.

Near the barn, I saw my dad.

Behind him was Tessa's dead body.

Stop! You've done this.

I tried to run away, but he grabbed my hand.

The next day I just laid in my bed, thinking.

I couldn't remember anything from that Friday...

I decided to invite Lizzie.

She had to come in through the window, because I still wasn't allowed to have guests.
